Set Password

Passwords are stored using a strong slow irreversible hash, making them virtually impossible to retrieve. They are never logged, and will never be divulged to anyone. However it is good security practice to not use the same password for multiple applications, and to avoid the use of readily guessable passwords.

Enter a password you can remember and click “set password”

This should open the following webpage. I suggest you bookmark this page and if you wish click the box “Remember UserID on this computer” to save you entering your userid each time.

If you need to you can logout at any time using the “logout” button on the top right.

If you click the down arrow next to your Userid a drop down is shown and this is where you can set change your password if you choose.

Under “show detail” you can see info about you. If you wish you can add any distinctions you have and click “save”. Leave the other fields set as defaults for now.
